

CHAPTER XVIII

PUBLIC LIFE AND VOLUNTARY SOCIAL SERVICE ORGANISATIONS

THE people of the coastal district of South Kanara have been in touch with foreign countries since a long time. They had the advantage of an earlier introduction of modern education. There is a high percentage of literacy among them and in recent years, a remarkable progress has been achieved in the field of education. There is a tradition of enterprising spirit and active public life. Social workers and nationalist leaders like Kudumal Ranga Rao (1858-1928), Karnad Sadashiva Rao (1881-1937) and others inspired the people and kindled nationalistic ideas in them.

After the achievement of independence, the public opinion in the district has become better organised and more vocal. The rights guaranteed by the Constitution have encouraged the people to express their views freely and fearlessly on matters political, economic and social. They have realised the importance of their views and opinions in the democratic set-up. There is a wide awakening in them and they are conscious of their rights. They also co-operate with the Government in its developmental efforts. They sometimes help in building schools, dispensaries, roads and such other public institutions through voluntary contributions of cash and labour. The instances of such public co-operation could be seen especially in the community development blocks of the district. Likewise, there has been good response from the public to defence and other funds, which is also indicative of the public-spiritedness of the people. According to the office of the Deputy Commissioner of the district, the total cash contributions of the people to the National Defence Fund upto September 1972 were of the order of about Rs. 15.94 lakhs, while the contributions in kind included 4,180 grams of gold, 871 grams of silver and six diamonds.

The general elections to the Parliament and the State Legislature are very keenly contested by the various political parties and individuals. The adult suffrage has inspired the people in general to take greater interest in the public affairs, and programmes and policies of the Government. A revised Panchayat Raj system was introduced in the State in 1959. Now the people participate more actively in the local civic affairs and take more interest in the public life and development programmes of the district. A large number of people vie with one another to get elected to the village panchayats and taluk development boards. Similarly, the election to the Municipal Councils of the various towns and also to the co-operative institutions and all other elective posts in the district are ardently contested.

The representation of the district in the State and the Union Legislatures has been according to the Representation of the People Act, as amended from time to time, to suit the various needs and exigencies. The Election Commission at the Centre is the authorised statutory body which conducts elections through the State Electoral Office, of which the Chief Electoral Officer is the head. At the district level, the Deputy Commissioner is entrusted with this responsibility.

Representation in State and Union Legislatures

In the first general elections held in 1952, the district returned eleven members to the then Madras Legislative Assembly and two members to the Lok Sabha. For purposes of elections to the Legislative Assembly, there were ten constituencies including one double-member constituency. The constituencies delimited were Coondapur, Karkal, Brahmavara, Udipi, Puttur-A, Puttur-B, Panemangalore, Mangalore, Kasaragod and Hosadurga. For the Lok Sabha, there were two constituencies, one at Udipi and the other at Mangalore.

At the time of the reorganisation of States, a Delimitation Commission was set up to determine afresh the extent of constituencies in the new Mysore State. Pursuant to their enquires, the Delimitation of Parliamentary and Assembly Constituencies Order, 1956, was issued which determined how and in what manner the Mysore State's electoral constituencies should be evolved. The Delimitation Commission issued their first order on the 19th December 1956 and according to the decision, the district was allotted 14 seats to the Mysore Legislative Assembly and two seats to the Lok Sabha. The Assembly Constituencies so fixed were: Puttur (2 seats), Belthangady (1 seat), Panemangalore (1 seat), Mangalore-I (1 seat), Mangalore-II (1 seat), Surathkal (1 seat), Kaup (1 seat), Udipi (1 seat), Brahmavara (1 seat), Coondapur (1 seat), Baindoor (1 seat) and Karkal (2 seats).

The Puttur Constituency, which was a double-member one, consisted of the whole Puttur taluk; Belthangady comprised the whole taluk except Panemangalore firka (hobli); Panemangalore Constituency consisted of Panemangalore firka in Belthangady taluk and Gurpur firka in Mangalore taluk ; Mangalore-I consisted of Ward Nos. 4 to 25 of the Mangalore Municipality ; Mangalore-II consisted of Mangalore firka (excluding Ward Nos. 4 to 25 of Mangalore Municipality) in Mangalore taluk Surathkal consisted of Surathkal firka and Mulki firka (excluding some villages); Kaup consisted of Kaup firka in Udipi taluk and some villages in Mulki firka in Mangalore taluk ; Udipi comprised Udipi firka in Udipi taluk ; Brahmavara had Brahmavara and Kota firkas ; Coondapur consisted of Coondapur taluk and some villages in Kota firka of Udipi taluk ; Baïndoor had Wandse and Baïndoor firkas in Coondapur taluk ; and Karkal (double-member) consisted of the Karkal taluk.

For the elections to the Lok Sabha, two Parliamentary constituencies were fixed, one at Mangalore, which comprised Coorg district (excluding Ammathinad in Virajpet taluk and Fraserpet hobli in Somwarpet taluk), Puttur and Belthangady taluks and Mangalore taluk excluding Surathkal and Mulki firkas. The other Parliamentary Constituency was of Udipi comprising the Udipi, Karkal and Coondapur taluks and Mulki and Surathkal firkas in Mangalore taluk.

Abolition of Double-
Member Constituencies

The two-member constituencies were abolished in 1961 under the provisions of the Two-Member Constituencies (Abolition) Act, 1961. Under Section 3 of the Act, the Election Commission was required to divide each two-member constituency into two single-member constituencies, delimit their extent and decide in which of them seats should be reserved for the Scheduled Castes or Tribes. Accordingly the Commission amended and revised the Delimitation of Parliamentary and Assembly Constituencies Order, 1956, and issued the Delimitation of Parliamentary and Assembly Constituencies Order, 1961, in December of that year. The effect of this change, as far as South Kanara district was concerned, was that the Puttur double-member constituency was split up into two single-member constituencies of Puttur and Sullia, a seat being reserved for the Scheduled Tribes in the latter constituency. Similarly, the two-member constituency of Karkal was also divided into two single-member constituencies of Karkal and Moodabidri, and a seat was reserved for the Scheduled Castes in the latter constituency.

General
Elections

The main political parties which participated in the second general elections in the district were the Indian National Congress, the Praja-Socialist Party, the Communist Party of India and the Bharatiya Jan Sangh. Some individuals also contested as Independents. But it was the Indian National Congress which was predominant in the district in the political field during this period having won a majority of seats not only in the second general elections, but also in the municipal elections both in Mangalore and Udipi. The Indian National Congress had set up its candidates for both the Lok Sabha seats in the district, and both the candidates were declared elected after a keen contest with the Communist Party of India and the Praja-Socialist Party.

In the elections to the Legislative Assembly, the Indian National Congress contested in all the 14 constituencies and won 12 seats, while the Praja-Socialist Party put up 6 candidates and emerged successful in two seats. The Communist Party of India contested in four constituencies, but did not win in any. Likewise, the Bharatiya Jan Sangh also had put up three candidates but did not succeed in any. Three Independent candidates also competed but failed to get elected.

There were 7,44,125 voters in the district who were eligible to exercise their franchise in the second general elections. Out of this, about 53 per cent went to the polling booths and actually cast their votes.

The Indian National Congress and the Praja-Socialist Party continued to be the main political parties in the district, also during the third general elections held in 1962. The Swatantra Party entered the election arena in the district for the first time, while the Communist Party and the Bharatiya Jan Sangh were also in the field, besides a few Independents. The Indian National Congress, which put up its candidates in all the 14 Assembly constituencies, came out successful in nine of them, while the Praja-Socialist Party, which contested seven seats, won three of them. The Bharatiya Jan Sangh set up nine candidates, but none of them was successful. The Communist Party which contested five seats, and the Swatantra Party, which contested seven seats, secured a seat each, the seat won by the latter party being the one reserved for the Scheduled Castes in the Moodabidri Assembly Constituency. The constituency in which the Communist Party was successful was Mangalore-II where there is a concentration of labour population. Eight Independents contested but none of them was elected.

General
Elections,
1962

Both the Lok Sabha seats went to the Indian National Congress. While the winning candidate in the Mangalore Constituency secured 42.2 per cent of the votes polled, his nearest rival of the Swatantra Party secured 30.1 per cent. Similarly, in the Udipi Constituency, the Congress candidate secured 50 per cent of the votes polled, the percentage of votes secured by his nearest rival of the Praja-Socialist Party being 44.5.

The total number of voters in the district for the general elections of 1962 was 7,55,717 while the number of valid votes polled was 4,37,015 the percentage of valid votes polled being 57.8. As against this, there were 8,72,143 voters in the two Parliamentary Constituencies, which included also parts of Coorg district, of whom 5,14,106 persons exercised their franchise, the percentage of valid votes polled being 58.9. The highest percentage of valid votes polled was 78.8 in Mangalore-1 Assembly Constituency, while the lowest was 42.2 in the Moodabidri Constituency.

Changes in Constituencies

Consequent on the further delimitation of the Assembly and Parliamentary Constituencies in 1966, there were certain changes in the jurisdictions of the Assembly Constituencies, except in respect of Mangalore-I, Mangalore-II and Udipi, for the general elections of 1967. The Panemangalore Constituency was replaced by the Buntwal Constituency and the Moodabidri Constituency, which was reserved for the Scheduled Castes candidates earlier was made a general constituency. Similarly, the Sullia Constituency, which was reserved for Scheduled Tribe candidates, was made a reserved constituency for the Scheduled Castes. The number of Assembly Constituencies continued to be fourteen, viz., (1) Sullia, (S.C.), (2) Puttur, (3) Belthangady, (4) Buntwal, (5) Mangalore-1, (6) Mangalore-II, (7) Surathkal, (8) Kaup, (9) Udipi, (10) Brahmavara, (11) Coondapur, (12) Baindoor, (13) Karkal and (14) Moodabidri.

There were no large changes in regard to the areas of the Parliamentary Constituencies in the district. The Belthangady Assembly Constituency, which was in the Mangalore Parliamentary Constituency in 1962, was now included in the Chikmagalur Parliamentary Constituency for the general elections of 1967, and instead the Somwarpet Assembly Constituency in Coorg district was included in the Mangalore Parliamentary Constituency in addition to Mercara and Virajpet Assembly Constituencies. There has not been any variance since then either in the number or in the extent of both the Assembly and Parliamentary Constituencies in the district.

General Elections, 1967

The Indian National Congress and the Praja-Socialist Party were again the main political parties in the district during the fourth general elections held in 1967. These were closely followed by the Swatantra Party which improved its position this time. In addition to the Bharatiya Jan Sangh, the Communist Party of India and Independent candidates who were in the field as before, the Communist Party of India (Marxist) made its entry in the district's election arena for the first time. The Congress, which contested all the 14 Assembly seats as before, won only six seats this time while the Praja-Socialist Party improved its position by securing four seats out of the seven contested by it. The Swatantra Party also bettered its previous performance by winning two Assembly seats as against the seven contested by it and also the Udipi Parliamentary seat. For the first time, a Jan Sangh candidate and an Independent were returned to the Legislative Assembly from the district. While the Jan Sangh had set up four candidates, there were as many as 21 Independents. Neither of the two Communist Parties, which had set up two candidates each, won any seat. The Mangalore Parliamentary seat also went to the Indian National Congress.

The total number of electors in the district for the Assembly elections this time was 7,98,719, out of whom 5,28,811 persons (66.2 per cent) exercised their franchise. As against this, there were 9,03,620 voters for the two Parliamentary Constituencies, out of whom 6,03,897 persons (66.8 per cent) actually cast their votes. The following table indicates the constituency-wise number of voters, the number and percentage of valid votes polled and the successful parties in the general elections of 1967 :—

as in other parts of the State. There were four candidates, one each from the Indian National Congress (Jagjivan Ram Group) and the Swatantra Party and two Independents, in the Udipi Parliamentary Constituency, of whom the candidate of the Indian National Congress (Jagjivan Ram Group) was elected with a big margin. Of the 2,77,198 valid votes polled in the constituency, he secured 1,82,409 votes or 65.8 per cent, while his nearest rival of the Swatantra Party got only 54,644 valid votes, i.e., 19.72 per cent. Five candidates, one each from the Indian National Congress (Jagjivan Ram Group), Indian National Congress (Nijalingappa Group), Praja-Socialist and the Communist Party (Marxist) and an Independent, contested from the Mangalore Parliamentary Constituency. Here also, the candidate of the Indian National Congress (Jagjivan Ram Group) came out successful with a comfortable majority. Out of 3,18,180 valid votes polled in the constituency, he secured 2,05,516 votes or 64.59 per cent as against 84,286 votes or 26.49 per cent secured by his nearest rival of the Indian National Congress (Nijalingappa Group). All the other candidates in both constituencies forfeited their deposits.

General
Elections,
1972

The Indian National Congress, the Bharatiya Jan Sangh and the Indian National Congress (Organisation) were the main political parties in the district which contested in the fifth general elections held in 1972. The other parties in the field were the Swatantra, the Communist Party of India (Marxist), the Socialist Party and the Communist Party of India. As the mid-term poll for the Lok Sabha was held earlier in March 1971, the general elections this time were only for the State Legislative Assembly. The Indian National Congress virtually swept the polls in that all the 13 seats, for which it had set up its candidates, were captured by it, while the remaining one seat went to the Communist Party of India which had set up only one candidate. Neither the Bharatiya Jan Sangh, which contested from eleven constituencies, nor the Indian National Congress (Organisation), which had set up nine candidates, won any seat. Similarly, none of the other political parties which had put up 3 to 4 candidates each, secured any seat, so also the Independents who were 19 in number. The following statement gives the detailed results of the fifth general elections (1972) in the district :—

There was a considerable increase in the total number of electors in the district as compared to the previous general elections. As against 7,98,719 electors in 1967, there were 9,24,225 electors in the district this time, out of whom 6,15,028 or about 66.55 per cent exercised their franchise. Of the votes polled, 13,055 votes were rejected as invalid. There was a preponderance of women electors in all the constituencies except Sullia, Puttur and Belthangady. For instance, there were 34,063 female electors in the Kaup Constituency as against its 25,053 male electors. Similarly, in the Karkal Constituency, as against 26,042 male voters, there were as many as 34,314 female voters. The census figures show that the number of females in the district exceeds that of males (see Chapter III). The sub-joined statement shows the constituency-wise number of electors and the number and percentage of votes polled in the 1972 general elections in the district :—

In order to enable the voters to reach their respective polling stations without much difficulty, a large number of polling stations were located throughout the district in convenient places. Formerly the voters of some of the constituencies in the rural areas had to traverse long distances to reach the places of voting. This inconvenience was obviated by increasing the number of polling stations which was necessitated also by the increase in the number of electors. While there were 855 polling stations in the general elections of 1962 in the district, the number had been increased to 902 and 1,607 in 1967 and 1972 respectively.

Polling Stations

South Kanara has been a pioneer and holds a prominent place in the field of Kannada journalism. The first known newspaper in the district "Kannada Samachara", (later called "Mangaluru Samachara") was started in Mangalore in 1842 by Rev. Herman Mogling of the Basel Mission. The German missionaries, known for their religious zeal, were responsible for starting several newspapers and periodicals in the district, all aimed at propagating their religious faith among the natives. "Kannada Varthika", the first Kannada journal to be set in type, was another such newspaper started by them in Mangalore in 1857. While it appears that the first was a monthly, the second was said to be a fortnightly. These were followed by other journals like, "Krista Sabha Patra" in 1869, "Satya Deepika" in 1896, "Vaidika Mitra" in 1910, "Suvatha Prasarak" in 1922 and "Krista Hitavadi" in 1924.

News papers and Periodicals

The local people published their first journal, a monthly called "Sudarshana", from Udipi, in 1887 under the editorship of Bailur Rama Rao. Bolar Vitthal Rao published "Suvasini", another Kannada monthly, in 1900. Then followed "Krishna Sukti" in 1905, "Jaina Bandhu" in 1913, "Bhakti Sandesha" in 1918, "Veda Sandesha" in 1926, "Sadguru Padaseve" also in 1926, "Saddharma Pracharaka" and "Sri Krishna Sandesha" in 1938, "Vivekabhyudaya" in 1941 and "Paryaya Prakashini" in 1942. Almost all these periodicals were largely devoted to religious matters.

There were also magazines mainly devoted to literary and cultural subjects, like "Ananda" (1916) edited by M. N. Kamath, "Kannada Kogile" (1916) edited by Muliya Thimmappaiah, "Vasanth" (1923) edited by Shri K. Shivarama Karanth, "Karnataka Kesari" (1928), "Sahitya" (1929), "Kalachandra" (1933) and "Triveni" (1936). There were also journals like "Bodhini" (1915), "Balachandra" (1932) and "Vidyodaya" (1942) devoted to the cause of education. Shri K. Karanth's "Bala Prapancha" a children's encyclopaedia in Kannada, which was being published in parts in a magazine form, was very popular. Molahalli Shivarao published "Sahakari", a journal devoted to co-operative movement, in 1919.

The period between 1900 and 1947 saw the emergence of several journals which were devoted to the cause of the country's freedom. V. S. Kamath's "Swadeshbhimani" (1907), B. Vitthala Rao's "Kantheerava" (1919), with which Hurali Bhimarao was associated, D. K. Bharadwaja's "Tilaka Sandesha" (1919), A. B. Shetty's "Navayuga" (1921) H. R. Mallya's "Satyagrahi" (1921), K. Shankara Bhat's "Rashtrabandhu" (1928), K. V. Shenoy's "Prabhata" (1928) and M. B. Prabhu's "Swadeshi Pracharaka" (1934) and other similar journals played an important part in kindling in the people a nationalistic spirit and in rousing them to action.

"Nava
Bharata"

In 1941, V. S. Kudva, an industrialist of the district, started a Kannada daily newspaper called 'Nava Bharata'. This was the first large-scale daily newspaper published in the district, with a teleprinter service and a wide coverage of news. It continues to be one of the popular dailies in the district, its editor, printer and publisher being S. V. Kudva. After the attainment of independence, several journals like "Rashtramata", "Yugapursha", "Aruna", "Prakasha", "Rayabhari", "Ashavadi", "Sangati", "Udayachandra", etc., made their appearance in the district.

"Udayavani"

The year 1970 saw the emergence of another prominent daily newspaper in the district, entitled "Udayavani", from Manipal (Udipi). This is perhaps the first instance of a big daily newspaper being published from a small place, away from the district headquarters, in the country. Edited, printed and published by Shri T. Satish U. Pai for Manipal Printers and Publishers Private Ltd., the newspaper is printed in the Manipal Power Press, one of the biggest and best equipped printing presses in the State. It has a network of news correspondents and with a wide coverage of news and features. The daily has become very popular in the district within a short span of about three years. It has also some circulation in several other districts of the State, as also among the Kannadigas in Bombay and elsewhere. It was started with a circulation of about 4,000 copies in January 1970 and according to the District Publicity Officer, South Kanara, the circulation had increased to about 36,000 copies by the middle of 1972. Since August 1971, the newspaper is being printed in an L. and M. 'Pacer 36' Web-Offset Press, one of the most modern printing machineries, which was acquired by the Manipal Power Press. The daily is a member of both the Audit Bureau of Circulation and the Indian and Eastern Newspapers Society and subscribes to the Press Trust of India and United News of India news agencies. It has twice won the National Award (first prize) for excellence in the printing and designing among the Indian Language daily newspapers.

According to the District Publicity Officer, at present (1973) Existing Weeklies and Monthlies nine Kannada weeklies and eight Kannada monthlies are being published in the district and they are: "Navayuga", "Aruna", "Prabhata", "Rayabhari", "Janadeepa", "Aikya Ranga", "Ashavadi", "Goan Sevaka" and "Jagadarshini" (all weeklies), and "Yugapurusha", "Bhavyavani", "Sevamrita", "Mogaveera", "Kaladarsha", "Kannada Sahakari", "Vijnana Loka" and "Tushara". Of these, the "Navayuga" weekly of Udipi, edited by Shri K. H. Shetty, is the oldest, having been started as early as 1921. This journal celebrated its golden jubilee in 1972 and brought out a bumper issue to mark the event. "Tushara", a Kannada monthly, is a recent addition to the journalistic enterprise in the district and it is being published from April 1973. Besides these Kannada journals, there are also two English weeklies, viz., "Manipal Record" and "Vidyodaya", three Konkani weeklies, viz., "Rakno", "Mithr" and "Kannik" an English fortnightly called "Insight", a Konkani fortnightly entitled "Jhelu", a Konkani monthly called "Panchakaday" and two Tulu monthlies entitled "Tulukoota" and "Tulusiri". However, the circulation of most of these journals is not much and a few among them are also reported to be irregular in publication.

Since the time of the publication of the first newspaper in 1842, about 180 newspapers and periodicals, devoted to a variety of subjects and causes, have been published in the district. It is true that most of these newspapers and journals are no more in existence, but all the same they indicate the journalistic enterprise and the extent of the efforts made in the sphere of the fourth estate in the district. It may be said to be one of the prominent districts in regard to development of journalism in the country. This cradle of Kannada journalism has also given a good number of able journalists to the country including Shriyuts Benegal Shiva Rao, M. V. Kamath, D. R. Mankekar, Hurli Bhima Rao, K. Shankar Bhatt, Joachim Alva, R. K. Prabhu, R. R. Padubidri, U. G. Rao, Sudharkar Bhat, U. Bhaskar Rao, V. S. Kamath, K. Haidar, Bolar Vitthalrao, M. N. Kamath, K. Rajagopalkrishna Rao,

A. B. Shetty, Pandeshwar Ganapathi Rao, K. S. Niranjana and many others.

Of about 180 journals (in respect of which some particulars are available) published in the district over the last about 130 years, as many as 108 were published from Mangalore, while Udipi, which had 28 journals to its credit, came second. A list showing the names of these newspapers and periodicals (both existing and defunct), the years of their starting and the places of their publication, as also the names of their Editors (as could be gathered), is given below. However, it cannot be said that this list is exhaustive or perfect and there may be omissions or so here and there. But, none-the-less, it provides a bird's eye-view of the journalistic efforts made in the district over the period:

There have been changes in editors in many cases. However, generally, only one name could be given.

Apart from the newspapers and magazines published in the district, other well-known dailies and weeklies from Bangalore and Bombay are also widely read by the people in the district. The Hindu, Indian Express, Deccan Herald, "Prajavani", "Kannada Prabha" and "Samyukta-Karnataka" from Bangalore are more popular. The Times of India and the Illustrated Weekly of India from Bombay are also popular among the English reading public. The Kannada weekly and monthly journals like "Sudha", "Prajamatha", "Karmaveera", "Janapragati", "Kasturi", "Mallige", "Mayura" have a good appeal in the district. Of late, the film journals published from Bombay and Madras also have a considerable circulation among younger people. Several daily newspapers published in Bangalore have their correspondents in the district. They have made arrangements to send their morning editions in motor vans, etc., to reach the district fairly early. A small number of copies of newspapers of Malayalam, Tamil and several other languages are also received in the district.

VOLUNTARY SOCIAL SERVICE ORGANISATIONS

The social conditions and social changes taking place in the country are continuously throwing up problems requiring careful thought, planning and co-ordination. In South Kanara too, the problems have been many, but they are being met in a manner that is characteristic of the cosmopolitan outlook of the people of the district. The standard of social service organisations in South Kanara reflects a wide awareness of responsibility to the less fortunate members of the society. Many social service institutions have been working all over the district and it may be said that South Kanara has a prominent place among the districts of the State in this respect. Some of the existing institutions in the district have attained a large degree of stability and usefulness. The Basel Mission, Sri Ramakrishna Mission, the Academy of General Education, Father Muller's Charitable Institutions, the Indian Red Cross Society and several other institutions have come to the succour of the less fortunate people and some of the institutions have earned the signal honour of being pioneers.

The main functions of most of these institutions are such as child welfare, youth welfare, women's welfare, service to the needy, the aged and the handicapped, and orphans and destitutes, health and hospital service, educational service, social and moral welfare in general. Social welfare work in the district in modern times is not new and has a fairly long history dating back to the last decades of the last century. Considerable amounts of funds have been made available by philanthropists and non-official bodies to assist in the execution of ameliorative schemes. The State, which has embarked on a welfare ideal, has not been slow in realising the imperative need to assist the deserving institutions started to help the disabled or the poor.

The South Kanara district has relatively a larger number of voluntary social service organisations, some of which are well organised. It is learnt that there are about a hundred organisations in Mangalore City alone. With a view to co-ordinating the activities of these institutions and organising social services with mutual co-operation, a Federation of Welfare Agencies was formed in 1964 (the office of the Federation is at present situated in "Roshni Nilaya" in Jeppu, Mangalore). Of the numerous institutions, only a few have been dealt with in this chapter by way of illustrations.

Professional social workers are trained in the Institute of Social Service at the Roshni Nilaya, Jeppu, Mangalore. Those who are desirous of getting a Bachelor's Degree and Master's Degree in Social Work, are given training in this Institute. The systematic training can help to bring about a methodical approach to social work.

The Academy of General Education, Manipal, was founded in 1942 by Dr. T. M. A. Pai with the help of a group of leading citizens of Manipal and Udipi with the following main aims and objectives : (1) to provide technical and commercial education of varied and wide diversity ; (2) to create a favourable environment for the promotion of scholastic pursuits by acquiring the ability to find schools and colleges and any other institutions that may be decided by the Academy ; and (3) to keep clear channels of communication and to widen the means of expression by meetings, seminars, literary associations, discussions and enlightening speeches. In keeping with these objectives, the Academy took upon itself the responsibility of expanding opportunities for vocational training, professional education and academic graduation. Dr. T. M. A. Pai has been the Registrar (now President as well) of the Academy from inception. In the founding of this institution, he was assisted by persons such as Shriyuths T. A. Pai, Purushottam Pai, Upendra Pai and Ramesh Pai.

Academy of General Education

To begin with, the Academy started imparting instruction in courses like Practice and Law of Banking, Insurance, Motor Engineering, Nursing and Midwifery, Cinema Exhibition, Printing and Photography, especially to those candidates who had failed to make their grades in public examinations. The project was meant to discover the real talents hidden in such candidates by offering them a variegated fare of courses. The next step was to establish schools and colleges of higher learning with a view to equalising educational opportunities between the city and the village. The most significant achievement of the Academy during the first decade of its service was the establishment of the Mahatma Gandhi Memorial College at Udipi in June 1949, while the second decade saw the opening of the Kasturba Medical College at Manipal in 1953. The Academy blazed a new trail with the founding of this medical college which is regarded as one of the best and well-equipped institutions of its kind in the country. This was followed by the establishment of the Manipal Engineering College in May, 1957. A number of orphanages, asylums, ashrams and poor homes which render various kinds of humanitarian services to orphans, destitutes, the aged, the infirm, the incurables and the like have been organised. The city of Mangalore especially has many such institutions. A brief account of the service being rendered by some such institutions in the district is given in the following paragraphs.

Orphanages
and Seva-
shrama

The Mangalore Cheshire Home, one of 16 such homes in the country and the second in the State, was inaugurated on the 6th August 1965. It is meant exclusively for women and is situated near Father Muller's Charitable Institutions in the Kankanady area. It is a home for those who are incurably sick or physically handicapped and have no homes or means of support. Miss Barbara Coleman of the Cheshire Homes in India, when she visited Mangalore in 1963, called upon its citizens to help the admirable cause sponsored by the Cheshire Homes Movement. The foundation-stone for the Home was laid in 1964 by the founder of the movement, Group Captain Leonard Cheshire of England. The beginnings were humble and consisted of only six beds donated by philanthropists. The Swiss Emmaus Foundation contributed a sum of Rs. 2,000 and subsequent donations helped to augment the intake capacity of the Home. The students of Mangalore have also helped the Home in several ways by conducting carnivals, shramadan camps, entertainment programmes, etc. and another building with accommodation for another six persons came up in 1970. Another expansion project, which would accommodate 24 more persons, has been also undertaken by the Home at a cost of about 45,000 rupees.

Cheshire Home

During 1972, there were, in all, 16 inmates, mostly leper women, in the Home as against its intake capacity of 12. They were looked after by a home-mother and a sister of charity used to attend on them daily. The overall management of the Home rests with a local executive committee consisting of 24 members. The inmates keep themselves occupied in sewing, spinning, cooking and gardening. With the help of the Swiss Emmaus articles, they also make handicrafts like mats, bags, dolls and toys. A poultry unit, consisting of about 150 fowls, has also been started by the Home and is being maintained by its inmates.

The St. Joseph's Asylum at Jeppu in Mangalore is one of the oldest social service institutions in the district founded by the Diocese of Mangalore in 1889. J. The Asylum now comprises homes for the aged, one for men and another for women, a crèche and an orphanage for girls. It had also an orphanage for boys, which was moved to Belve in Coondapur taluk a few years ago.

St. Joseph's Asylum

The Asylum is open to orphans and destitutes, both young and old, of all castes and creeds and has so far offered shelter to over 12,000 persons, the present (1973) strength of inmates on its rolls being 553. The Sisters of Charity are in charge of all these homes. A small hospital is also attached to the Asylum for providing medical facilities to the inmates and the workers of the Asylum and their families. There is also a well-equipped workshop adjacent to the Asylum with departments of engineering (foundry, machine-shop, welding and fitting), carpentry, furniture manufacture, saw mills, etc., in which the orphan boys are employed after their education. It is a good technical training centre where many youngsters are trained in various technical trades and helped to secure jobs. In the All-India Technical Trades Competitions conducted in December 1972, one of the apprentices from this workshop secured the first rank in moulding and obtained a gold medal from the President of India, as also a cash prize, a tools kit and a merit certificate. The income from the workshop is utilised for the maintenance of the Asylum.

The orphan girls are given general education and rehabilitated by being trained in some useful crafts or are settled in life by marriage. A workers' club and a dramatic club are being maintained to provide cultural and recreational facilities to the inmates and workers of the Asylum. The later are also provided with housing facilities on a 40-acre plot of land.

Shri Shradha-
nanda Seva
shram

The Swami Shradhananda Sevashram, Mangalore, was established in 1939 by a band of social workers of the district with the object of rescuing destitute, orphan and abandoned children, taking care of them, educating them and moulding their character to become useful members of the society. It was being run by the local Arya Samaj upto 1968, and thereafter, it was constituted into an autonomous institution independent of the Arya Samaj. Started with just four inmates, there are at present (1973) 147 destitute and orphan children in the Sevashram, under the care of Swami Sadananda Saraswati, who is the moving spirit behind the institution. Besides providing food, clothing and shelter, it has been giving to the inmates instruction in the Vedas, Upanishads and the Geeta. It arranges for their high school and college education, besides training them in spinning, tailoring and gardening. Girl inmates receive training in cooking, household work and music. Besides moral instruction, they are also taught Hindi and Sanskrit. So far, the Ashram has provided shelter for hundreds of orphans and destitutes and a number of them have acquired high school and college education and many engineers and technicians have also passed out from various technical institutions with the help of the Ashram. They are employed in various educational, industrial and government establishments. Some of the girl inmates were got married and settled in life.

In the beginning, the inmates of the Ashram were housed in a thatched cottage of bamboo and hay on the Arya Samaj Road. With the help of the generous public, a hall was built in 1953 at a cost of Rs. 15,000. In 1958 was added an 'L' shaped new building at a cost of about Rs. 2 lakhs. The year 1970 saw the addition of another two-storeyed building at the Kadri Hills at a total cost of over Rs. 3 lakhs including the cost of land. The boys section of the Sevashram was subsequently shifted to this new building. Grants of the State Government and the Central Social Welfare Board and the charities of the philanthropic public are the sources of income of the Sevashram. During 1972, there were in all about 650 members of all categories on the rolls of the Sevashram.

The St. Antony's Orphanage, another notable social work centre, also at Jeppu in Mangalore, came into being in 1898 under the guidance of the late Rev. Mgr. M. P. Colaco. It provides shelter to people of all age-groups from the babe to the centenarian. During 1970, there were as many as 513 inmates in the Orphanage, of whom about 260 were partially or completely disabled. There are twelve cottages in the campus and one of them, viz., Providence Cottage, started in 1957, provides shelter to bed-ridden persons, the present strength of such cases being 50. The St. Jocuqira's Home had 72 old men, while the St. Ann's Home had 120 women. There is also a creche for babies with house-mothers to look after them. A balawadi is also attached to the Orphanage for children upto five years of age and thereafter they are educated in the adjacent schools.

Shri Ramakrishna Seva Samaj, Puttur, was established in 1953. It is running an orphanage called Shri Sharadamani Anathalaya, a library called Swami Vivekananda Library and also a balawadi named after Bhagini Nivedita. While the Anathalaya and the library were established in 1953, the balawadi was started in 1969.

The Anathalaya, which has two orphanages, one for boys and another for girls, came into being as a result of the efforts of the late B. Lakshminarayana (Rao who donated all his movable belongings to the orphanages) and his friends and associates, with the object of bringing up orphan and destitute children by providing them free boarding and lodging, clothes, education upto S.S.L.C., medical aid and the like. Children between 4 to 6 years of age are generally admitted to the orphanages, but lately this age limit is relaxed in certain deserving cases. In addition to general education, the girls are also taught cloth-cutting and sewing. During 1972, there were in all 32 children, 16 boys and 16 girls, in the orphanages and re-efforts were being made to raise this number to 50. With the help of financial aid given by the Central Social Welfare Board and generous donations from the philanthropic public, the Samaj has put up a building worth more than

Rs. 50,000 and all the above institutions are housed in it. A governing body consisting of 15 members, elected from among the members of the Samaj once in three years, manages these institutions. During 1972, there were 318 members of all categories in the Samaj. In addition to running these institutions, it is also associating itself with social and religious activities wherever and whenever possible.

The mahila mandals play a useful role in the betterment of the socio-economic conditions of women and also in promoting their cultural and educational advancement. More and more such mandals came to be established in the district, especially after the launching of the community development programme, so that at the close of 1972, there were about 150 such institutions in the various parts of the district, their programme of work and pattern of service being, more or less the same. They included running of nursery schools or balawadies for little children, conducting of classes in Hindi, music and dance and imparting training in tailoring, knitting, embroidery and such other crafts for the benefit of women and girls. Several of these institutions have received recognition and financial assistance from the Government and the local bodies. A brief account of the important activities of a few of such institutions of women functioning in the district is given here by way of illustration.

There were 25 children in this home during 1972. It also renders medical relief in rural areas and also runs family-planning clinics. It has also a good library and reading room.

They formed the Mahila Sabha of Mangalore in May of that year and located it in a part of a building owned by Karnad Sadashiva Rao. Shortly afterwards, it was able to put up a building of its own near the Light-House Hill. In 1921, a library was started and in 1930, a reading room was added. English and Hindi classes, needle work, rattan work and music classes were also introduced. Due importance was also given to recreation. Among those who strove hard for the development of this institution were Smt. Lalithabai Subbarao, Smt. Karnad Shanthabai Sadashivarao and Smt. Manoramabai.

A Book Club was started in 1962. The other activities of the League relate to social service in general like visits to slums, giving nutritional aid to babies and expectant mothers, assisting ailing people to secure medical aid and distribution of clothes to the needy families. A childrens' library is also being maintained and arrangements have been made to get enough books for the same. A family welfare agency has also been set up to procure medical, financial, legal and moral assistance to families which are in distress. The League is administered by a governing body consisting of seven members. Voluntary subscriptions from members, public donations, grants and proceeds from film-shows and entertainment programmes constitute the sources of income of the League.

Started in 1958 and with about 100 members on its rolls in 1972, the Mahila Mandal, Belthangady, imparts training in doll-making, machine embroidery and tailoring to women and also runs a balawadi for children of pre-school age. The Mahila Mandal, Hathyadka, also in Belthangady taluk, has introduced cooking and spinning subjects in its training programme in addition to conducting adult literacy and bhajan classes and training in fruit preservation and poultry farming. During 1972, it had 75 members on its rolls. The members of the Mahila Samaj, Bilinele, in Puttur taluk, have taken up flower and vegetable gardening and poultry farming, in addition to their normal activities. The Samaj also organises educational tours and baby shows. The Mahila Samaj, Kotehosur, in Coondapur taluk, has confined itself to the normal activities of running a balawadi and conducting a tailoring class. The remaining mahila mandals in the district are also engaged in similar activities and serving the community in their own way. While some have comparatively greater achievements to their credit, some others just do the minimum functions, depending upon their financial resources and other factors.

Attempts have been made in recent years to harness the energies of the youth of the district for healthy and constructive activities through the organisation of youth clubs all over the district under the Youth Services Programme. This programme is designed to serve the needs of the youth of the age-group of 15 to 25 years, especially the non-student section in the rural areas, since so far as the student youth section is concerned, it gets separately good institutional support for mental and physical development. A District Youth Services Board was constituted in 1970 under this programme, with the Deputy Commissioner of the district as its Chairman and the Deputy Director of Public Instruction as its Secretary. The District Planning Officer, who has now been designated as the District Planning and Youth Services Officer, functions as its Joint Secretary. It is mainly an advisory body and its functions include formulation of specific programmes for the promotion of youth welfare, mobilisation of resources from local bodies and other agencies for youth welfare programmes, advising the authorities concerned on the steps to be taken for intensifying extra-curricular activities, sports and games and the like in schools and colleges and reviewing the progress of work done under the youth services programme in the district periodically.

According to the District Planning and Youth Services Officer, South Kanara, there were about 160 rural youth clubs in the district under the community development programme in 1972. In addition, there were over 45 youth clubs in the urban areas. These clubs have adopted programmes suitable to their environments and resources and they include organisation of adult literacy classes, libraries and reading rooms, cultural and recreational activities, shramadan programmes, etc. They also educate the farmers on improved methods of cultivation, preparation of compost and green manures, on vegetable cultivation, poultry-farming and rearing of improved breeds of cattle. Games and sports and physical culture are the common activities of most of the clubs. Cultural programmes like dramas and bhajans are also organised by several of them.

The active youth clubs are assisted by the Government with monetary grants of Rs. 300 each. Besides, incentive awards ranging from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1,000 are also given to the clubs which turn out good work. During 1971-72, a total sum of Rs. 24,100 was given as grants to about 80 youth clubs, both rural and urban, in the district. In addition, about 25 youth clubs were granted incentive awards totalling to Rs. 12,260 for the good work done by them. Youth rallies are conducted annually both at the taluk and district levels. A noteworthy feature of the youth welfare programme in the district is that its athletes are in the forefront in several games and sports events including body-building and weight-lifting. The athletes from this district have won several prizes and stood first in various events in the State-level youth rallies, athletic meets and other sports competitions. Seven rural sports centres were established in the district during 1971-72 in addition to the Regional Youth Centre at Mangalore.

According to the latest rules in respect of organisation of youth clubs, every youth club in the district is required to be affiliated to the District Youth Services Board if it is to get recognition and financial assistance from the Government. To qualify for such affiliation, a club should have at least 15 members in the age-group of 15 to 25. Till the middle of 1972, 114 youth clubs in the district had been affiliated to the District Youth Services Board. In the following paragraphs is given a brief account of the activities of a few of the youth clubs in the district, by way of illustration, as it is not possible nor is it necessary to deal with all of them individually.

Yuvaka Sangha, Naravi

The Yuvaka Sangha, Naravi, in Belthangady taluk, was started in 1953 for village development work. Shramadan is undertaken by the members of the Sangha who go round the villages with a set programme. The institution has also sponsored a Young Farmers' Club to propagate the ideas of improved methods of agriculture.

The Puttur taluk, which had the highest number of affiliated youth clubs, i.e., 26 among the taluks of the district in 1972, is in the forefront in regard to the youth services programmes in the district. The Yuvajana Mandal of Puttur, which was established in 1969, with about 20 members on its rolls, had about a hundred members in 1972. The Mandal conducted a free eye operation camp of Dr. M. C. Modi in 1970 and organised a vasectomy camp in 1971. It has been conducting district-level drama and sports competitions every year since 1970. For the good work done by the Mandal under the small savings scheme, it was awarded Rs. 3,000 by the State Government during 1971 and Rs. 10,000 in 1972. In addition, it was also adjudged as one of the best youth clubs in the district and was given incentive awards both during 1970 (second award) and 1971 (first award). It has programmed to construct a building of its own for which purpose it has so far collected about Rs. 20,000. The affairs of the Mandal are managed by an elected executive committee consisting of eight members and the funds required are raised through membership fees and donations from the public.

The Buntwal Yuvak Mandal was established in 1967 with 33 members on its rolls. The membership had increased to 83 by 1972. Among the activities undertaken by it may be mentioned adult education, vegetable gardening, poultry farming, help to poor students and small savings work. It has also conducted social work camps and trained several youths in the Applied Nutrition Programme. A training course for the youth regarding "keeping the town clean" was also organised. It secured the second prize in the athletic team championships conducted by the Buntwal Taluk Development Board during 1968.

Some enthusiastic youths of Karkal joined hands in establishing the Ananthashayana Yuvaka Sangha in 1970 with the object of utilising the energy of the youth for good causes. During 1972, the Sangha had 55 members on its rolls. A vaccination camp was organised by the Sangha in March 1972 in co-operation with the Health Services Department. Three social service camps were held during which the members of the Sangha repaired a considerable length of panchayat roads. The Sangha has been helpful in obtaining some basic civic amenities to the people of the town. Encouragement to sports and games and conducting of cultural programmes like harikathas and yakshagana plays are also among the activities of the Sangha.

Youth Club, Mundaje

The Mundaje Youth Club in Belthangady taluk was established in 1960. During 1972, there were 63 members on the rolls of the Club. It organises yakshagana and bhajan programmes periodically, and sports and games and drama competitions annually. By personally following modern methods of cultivation of agricultural and horticultural crops, animal husbandry practices; preparation of green manure and compost, etc., the members of the Club have set an example to the other raiyats of the area. Shramadan, social work during jatras and festivals and organisation of radio rural forum are among the other activities of the Club.

Other Youth
Clubs

Among the other youth clubs, the Sullia Youth Club with 57 members on its rolls, is running a night school and classes in carpentry, tailoring and painting. Through shramadan, the members of the Club prepared a play-ground for the local school and repaired some of the roads. The Youth Club, Mundoor, in Puttur taluk, had 52 members on its rolls in 1972. The members of this Club did also shramadan work for the common benefit of the village community. Some have taken up cattle-breeding, poultry-farming and bee-keeping with modern methods. The Youth Club, Ashwathpur, in Karkal taluk, which has 28 members on its rolls, has been running a library-cum-reading room and a radio rural forum, organising film shows and raiyats' seminars and procuring chemical fertilisers, pesticides and sprayers to the cultivators of the village. The Yuvaka Mandal, Sarpady, in Buntwal taluk, which claims a membership of about 250, has rendered shramadan for public purposes and has been conducting weekly bhajan and other cultural and recreational programmes.

Student and
Organisations

A district unit of the Nehru Institute of Youth Services is being organised by the college students of the district for conducting social and cultural activities and for developing qualities of leadership among the student youth of the various colleges in the district. The Yuvak Seva Sadan, another organisation of students drawn from different colleges in and around Mangalore, has taken up the cause of rehabilitation of beggars found in the area. They have conducted a survey in this regard and also held a week-long campaign during January 1973 for mobilising public opinion in regard to their rehabilitation and training for some jobs so that they should be able to eke out their livelihood in a proper way. The students of the different colleges have organised social service leagues. The members of the league from St. Aloysius College render shramadan, visit the handicapped and conduct an adult literacy class in Attavar, while those from St. Agnes College visit institutions of the poor and handicapped, give them sweets and clothes and entertain them. The league members from the Government College did shoe-shine work for collecting funds at a Jawans' Welfare Carnival. Many colleges and high schools in the district have similar service leagues. The Junior Chamber, Mangalore, has donated a bed in the local Cheshire Home. It has also sponsored projects like "hire of the handicapped" and "save your baby" designed to rehabilitate the handicapped and immunisation of babies against certain diseases, respectively.

Manipal, the educational township, abounds in student associations. The campus has social service organisations like the Rotaract Club, Leo Club, National Service Scheme, Social Service League, Junior Chamber. While the Rotaract Club consisting of student-members between the ages of 18 and 28, helped to electrify a school in a nearby village and started a library in the Manipal Hospital, the Leo Club provided a fan to a nursery school, water coolers to a nearby school and playing equipment to a children's park. The National Service Scheme and the Social Service League collected funds, etc., for the welfare of the Jawans. The members of the Junior Chamber have taken up a blood donation drive in addition to their other activities. The Students' Associations of the Kasturba Medical College and the Manipal Engineering College occasionally do poor-feeding and distribute fruits to the poor patients in the hospitals.

The foregoing is only a bird's eye-view of the activities of some of the voluntary social service organisations in the district. As already stated, there are also a number of similar other institutions. The limited scope of the Chapter does not permit enumeration of the activities of all the institutions in the district. In conclusion, it may be said that the district of South Kanara is a pioneer in the field of social work. The voluntary aspect of social service is a reflection of an enlightened society. The immense endeavours made to organise voluntary associations to serve social needs have given a vigour and a richness to the institutional life of South Kanara.
