

INDEX

NOTE : Diacritical marks have been used here to help facilitate the pronunciation of indigenous words and names correctly as they could not be used in the text. The original spelling in the text is left undisturbed so that the words can appear in the proper alphabetical order. This may create confusion in the case of ś (s as in Samskrita śankha meaning a conch which appears in the index as śhankha) and here the latter h has to be ignored. Sh has been used to indicate sh as in Samskrita visha, meaning poison. Other marked letters are ā (a as in bar), ī (i as in vira, a hero in Samskrita), ū (u as in suta, a charioteer in Samskrita) ṃ (o as in Soma or moon in Samskrita) ṛ (r as in Rigveda), ṡ (t as in vata tree in Samskrita), ṡh (t for matha, a monastery in Samskrita), ḍ (d as in jada, meaning inanimate in Samskrita), ḍh (d as in dholaka in Samskrita), ṇ (n as in Samskrita anu meaning a molecule), and ṛ (l as in Bangaluru or kulu, meaning rice, in Kannada).
